Bauma China 2010

Bauma China 2010, that has taken place at the international fairground of the seaport Shanghai in November, same as two years before, broke all the records of the previous years. Over 150,000 interested visitors from 165 countries entered this year’s Bauma China – 33% more than in the year 2008. Needless to say, the company KINSHOFER was also represented at Asia’s largest construction platform.

As in 2008 the company KINSHOFER from Waakirchen took part in the Bauma China 2010 in collaboration with the companies Darda and Hycon. KINSHOFER was represented by the Darda KINSHOFER Construction Machinery Co. Ltd. that is located in Beijing, but there could also be found reps from the Germany headquarters, that had come to Shanghai for the fair. So an international team was formed by all three companies of the respective countries that answered the questions of the likewise international visitors.

Among the exhibited tools of the company KINSHOFER the orange peel grabs for excavators and loader cranes aroused special interest as well as the rotators that won over due to their wide range, their robustness and their efficiency.

The exhibition takes place every two years in the Shanghai New International Expo Centre (SNIEC). The next Bauma China is scheduled for autumn 2012.
